

TECPA (THE EARLY CHILDHOOD PROFESSIONAL ASSOCIATION) PRESENTS

Understanding Different Avenues for Language Development

Presented by:
Megan Romanczyk, MS CCC-SLP

Understanding a child's language processing style is key to providing appropriate modifications, accommodations, and intervention. Join Speech-Language Pathologist Megan Romanczyk in learning about the differences between analytic and gestalt language development. This talk will explore developmental milestones, assessment and treatment best practices, and language development strategies for analytic and gestalt language processors.

Megan Romanczyk is a Speech Language Pathologist at the Boston Ability Center in Natick, Massachusetts. She graduated from Northeastern University with a Master's degree in Speech Language Pathology in 2020 and was awarded the Clinical Excellence Award for the Northeastern MS SLP program. She is experienced in providing neurodiversity affirming therapy to children birth to 18 years old. Her post-graduate trainings include DIRFloortime®, Learn Play Thrive Strengths Based Approach to Autism, and Natural Language Acquisition (NLA) training through Meaningful Speech. Megan was recently awarded the Distinguished Early Career Professional (ECP) Certificate through the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association.
